10 Facts about December 7, 1941, and Pearl Harbor people may not know...

Americans fired the first shot. At 6:37AM on December 7, 1941, the minesweeper Condor spotted the periscope of the Ko-hyoteki-class midget submarine near the entrance of the harbor and alerted the USS Ward destroyer.

The USS Nevada tried to make a run for it.

The whole attack took only two hours. 2,403 Americans died and 1,178 were wounded. A total of 18 ships were lost or damaged. Sixty-four (64) Japanese attackers were killed.

Aboard the USS Arizona alone, twenty-three (23) sets of brother perished.

Five Americans managed to get airborne and go after Japanese planes. One of those pilots George Welch was recommended for the Medal of Honor for his heroism but was denied because his commanding officer said he had no orders to do so.

10 Facts about December 7, 1941, and Pearl Harbor people may not know...

The Japanese really wanted to take out our Pacific fleet's aircraft carriers, but the Lexington, Enterprise, and Saratoga were all out to sea on December 7th.

Canada actually declared war on Japan before the United States did.

Americans captured a Japanese prisoner of war (POW) during the attack. Kazuo Sakamaki was a submariner. He spent the whole war in a POW camp. After the war, he worked for Toyota and died in 1999.

Many Japanese tourists pay their respects at the Pearl Harbor memorial. The most international tourists in the state of Hawaii come from Japan.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt's (FDR) Day of Infamy speech was only seven minutes long.

On Sunday, December 7, 1941, the Imperial Japanese Navy surprisingly attacked the United States Naval Base on Oahu Island, Hawaii named 'Pearl Harbor.' The attack decimated the US Pacific Fleet. The actions of the Japanese led the United States of America to declare war on the Empire of Japan. The United States' President at the time was Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Facts About Pearl Harbor

- The attack commenced at 7:55 AM local time on Sunday, December 7, 1941.
- The attack lasted 110 minutes, from 7:55 AM to 9:45 AM.
- The Japanese launched their planes in two waves, approximately 45 minutes apart.
- The Japanese attacked the United States without warning.
- The Japanese traveled 3,400 miles across the Pacific to execute their attack on Pearl Harbor.
- The Japanese fleet consisted of 353 planes.
- Many U.S. servicemen were still in bed or eating breakfast in the mess halls when the attack began.
- The Japanese warplanes had a large, red circle (the Rising Sun) on the side.
- There were eight battleships at Pearl Harbor that day, which included all of the U.S. Pacific fleet except for one - the USS Colorado.
- All eight U.S. battle ships were either sunk or damaged by the attack.
- Only two (the USS Arizona and USS Oklahoma) returned eventually.
- During the attack, the Japanese used five midget submarines to help sink the ships. Four of these submarines were sunk and a fifth was captured.
- The United States declared war on Japan on December 8, the day after the attack on Pearl Harbor.
- The United States declared war on Germany and Italy on December 11, 1941, during World War II.
- 'Pearl Harbor' became the rallying cry for the U.S. during the war.

Teacher Testimonials

I love Denise Leigh's keyboarding files! They are a great resource to use in my Computers 7 class!

LOVE this resource! It was a great addition to my classroom learning!

I absolutely love these keyboarding files. It helps break up the daily routine and helps the students learn more about the subject of the file. I especially love the ones about the military and veterans as my father and grandfather were both in the armed forces

I love these various practice files. It mixes up the redundancy of typing skills.
