Valentine's Day has origins in the Roman festival of Lupercalia, held in mid-February. The festival, which celebrated the coming of spring, included fertility rites and the pairing off of women with men by lottery. At the end of the 5th century, Pope Gelasius replaced Lupercalia with St. Valentine's Day.

A Valentine
Edgar Allan Poe - 1809-1849

For her this rhyme is penned, whose luminous eyes,
Brightly expressive as the twins of Loeda,
Shall find her own sweet name, that, nestling lies
Upon the page, enwrapped from every reader.
Search narrowly the lines!—they hold a treasure
Divine—a talisman—an amulet
That must be worn at heart. Search well the measure—
The words—the syllables! Do not forget
The triviallest point, or you may lose your labor!
And yet there is in this no Gordian knot

Which one might not undo without a sabre,
If one could merely comprehend the plot.
Enwritten upon the leaf where now are peering Eyes scintillating soul, there lie perdue
Three eloquent words oft uttered in the hearing
Of poets, by poets—as the name is a poet's, too.
Its letters, although naturally lying
Like the knight Pinto—Mendez Ferdinando—Still form a synonym for Truth—Cease trying!
You will not read the riddle, though you do the best you can do.

Let Me Give Her Diamonds
by Michael R. Burch

Let me give her diamonds
for my heart's sharp edges.

Let me give her roses for my soul's thorn.

Let me give her solace for my words of treason.

Let the flowering of love outlast a winter season.

Let me give her books for all my lack of reason.

Let me give her candles for my lack of fire.

Let me kindle incense, for our hearts require.
